FIREMAN AND WOMAN FALL FROM LADDER IN JAMAICA PLAIN FIRE

Firefighter Risks Death to Save Maid in Spectacular Jamaica Plain Fire

TELEPHONED $15,000 BLAZE

Two Alarms Sounded; Two Injured in Drop Taken to City Hospital

Carrying an elderly woman on his back, Thomas J. Hynes of Ladder 10 fell about 10 feet from a ladder to a concrete sidewalk during a spectacular two-alarm fire in a three-story apartment building at 33 Lakeville pl., Jamaica Plain, early today.

While falling Hynes twisted his body so that he received the full force of the impact when he and the woman, Mrs. Anna Butts, a maid, crashed to the sidewalk. Both were taken to City Hospital.

Hynes was treated for contusions of the back and in order to observe for a possible fracture of the spine. Mrs. Butts is suffering from burns of the back and shoulders and hip lacerations.

REFUSES TO LEAP

William Edwards, of Engine 33, was also treated for lacerations of the hands and body suffered from falling glass. William C. Andrew, a member of the family which employs Mrs. Butts, was treated at Forest Hills Hospital for burns of the hands, suffered in an attempt to rescue the trapped maid.

The elderly father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Andrew, were assisted to safety by police of the Jamaica Plain station, while Andrew returned to try and save the maid. Flames prevented him and firemen tried to make her jump from her window into a life net.

She refused and a ladder was run up to the window. Hynes ascended the ladder and was returning to the ground with her when the accident happened.

POLICE AID TENANTS

William Andrew, the "spark" or fire enthusiast, well known to firefighters, always "covering" second alarm blazes.

Nancy and Penelope Hill, 12-year-old twin daughters of the late Lewis Hill and students at the Boston Latin School, were rescued almost as easily by firemen from the top floor apartment.

The blaze was first spotted by Patrolman Karl Donnelly, at 10:15 p.m. in the first alarm. Then, according to the police, it was estimated at $15,000. It originated from some unknown cause.

Sparkling Picture of Life and Fashions at Opera

By RUTH MUUGLEBEE

The story and song that all young westward love—

Memories for the old; new hopes for the young.

It was a night for young and old alike; their souls, touched; their minds, thrilled.

It was the annual transformation night, the first night of the grand opera season in the city, when men and women, brilliantly attired, met, mingled, and mingled.

It was a night of gallant escorts and high silk hats. Opera for women. For men, too.

A night of black beads, opera and elegant silhouettes.

It was a night of soft voices, of trilling and pattering laughter, of irresistible "alone with life," of happy abandon, of youth alive, of cheery "hello" and passing recognition, of procession of endless gowns.

A perfect night, a perfect setting.

A night for music lovers; for actors; for a night of renewed acquaintance; for wild acclaim of glad gladness; a night of appreciative and untrained response to the God-given talent; a night for the OPERA.

SOCIETY WAS ON TIME

Perfect order, no underfoot, society streamed.

Opera House, and, as the sentimental strain, Wagner's wedding march wafted out into the foyer, the chords and crashing melody following the magic tones of Egon Pulk, hardly a seat was unoccupied.

Who said society arriving latest? Not this year. Society was on time on time for the opening of the opera, that story in which love plays the supreme role.

"Faithful and true, we lead thee forth, where love triumphs, shall crown thee with joy."

And in the overwhelming acclaim of this vehicle young Boston have unusual and unprecedented share, their quick acceptance of love's triumph resounding in thunderous applause.

Without any exception did Minsky mould her like figure to the prevailing demands of the mode, the trailing lengths of fashion's edict lending a gypsy-like coquetry of color to the promenade between the acts.

Mother and daughter, fashioned alike, their bodies moulded to the same lines of style, looked true like sisters, as beauteous, jeweled and artistically beautiful they were the models.

SIMPLICITY PREDOMINANT

Smart simplicity held her hold on fashionable Boston again last year. No tattered jewels, but rather those harmonious with costume and color, completed the final note in Minsky's opera.

Simplicity dazzled the onlooker rather than the hectic array of sparkling jewels of the dazed bygone.

Woman was never so graceful as her picture last night. Long hair, feminine of course, long gowns, feminine again. Femininity glared her comeback. A touch of comeback.

Not so many black wraps. A few emerald coverings. Not so many forgotten. Not so much "hush-hush" complacency, but a warm, richly cultural, democratic attitude viewed the opening and every body had a good time.

PLEASANT LITTLE CHATS

Bits of smiles between the acts. Brief intermissions for exchanges of glances. Many soft, open-mouthed smiles. And then the opera was over. Applause. Much applause. But the roles had been sung.

And back into the dark of night and out into the bright, the following January freshness. Back to the automobile, back to the apartment house, suburban home, to dormitories. Back to home to muse over a night's cultural enjoyment and opera beauty, and to ramble dreams of—

The story and song that all young westward love—

"Faithful and true, we lead thee forth, where love triumphs, shall crown thee with joy."

BERMUDA HAS NOTHING ON US!

Boston today experienced Bermuda-like weather.

At 1:30 p. m., the temperature stood at 54, making it the warmest Jan. 27, since Jan. 27, 1916, when the mercury stood at 62.

Today's mark is on a part with that of Jan. 27, 1902, when the reading was also 54. Windows were open in many of the downtown office buildings and in some places people were complaining of the heat.

Also allotted to the Boston yard during the last few days, independent of the pending bill, is $10,000, which will give employment to 30 additional men on various repairs.

All these local projects and similar ones at Portsmouth, N. H., and Newport, R. I., will give continuous work to the men involved until June 30, it was stated, and the 425 men to be given work, if the bill passes, 200 will be on contract jobs.

Get a good piece of real estate, buy it steady, pay for it, keep it, and let it stand in the real estate column of the Classified Ad.

Passage of the deficiency bill now before Congress will mean the immediate employment in the First Naval District of 425 men, including some who would otherwise have to be laid off, it was announced today from the office of Rear Admiral Louis M. Nelson at the Navy Yard.

Of the number, 170 will be put to work at the Boston Navy Yard where $200,000 will be spent on improvement of the electrical system, gas, fuel, and marine railway, road renewal, paving and improvement of the water front.

EX-BANKER ON TRIAL IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 27.—Arthur H. Hale, 70, former treasurer of Merrimack River Savings Bank here, was placed on trial today before Chief Justice Wiley in Superior Court charged with embezzling and misappropriating large sums of the bank's funds.

Immediately after the case was called called for both sides held a conference at the bench before an attempt was made to impanel a jury.

The Merrimack River Savings Bank was closed last spring by order of Bank Commissioner Dole when it was discovered that $3,000,000 of the $10,000,000 resources had been invested in bonds of questionable value in San Luis Valley, Col.

DAUGHTER IS COUNSEL.

Hale, deacon in Franklin Street Congregational Church and for years one of the outstanding citizens in Manchester, is facing severe indictments, containing 136 counts. His daughter, Miss Olive Hale, an attorney-at-law, stationed from California to serve as junior counsel for her father.

The closing of the bank proved a tragedy to many mill workers who were its chief depositors.

The various counts charge the aged ex-treasurer with making false entries, misappropriating the bank's funds on alleged loans, embezzlement, accepting presents from persons negotiating securities, paying bank money to persons not entitled to it, making loans in his own behalf and accepting fees from borrowers as an inducement for making certain loans.

FALSE LOANS CHARGED.

The State charges that Hale, on Oct. 31, 1925, carried a loan of $60,000 on the books to the Granite State Coal Company, but that in reality it was to himself.

The prosecution alleges that loans thus made to himself totaled $407,000.

ITALIAN ENVOY ASKS REDRESS FROM BUTLER

Washington, Jan. 27.—Ambassador De Martino of Italy in a formal statement characterized today as "untrue and slanderous" remarks regarding Premier Mussolini attributed to Major General Smedley Butler in a recent address in Philadelphia.

The Navy Department has asked Butler to explain the speech but has had no reply as yet. Major General Butler commands a marine post at Quantico, Va.

DEMANDS REDRESS.

Adequate redress has been demanded by the Italian Government in a formal protest to the state department against Butler's remarks. Butler is reported to have said: "Mussolini invited a friend of mine to accompany him in a tour around Italy, that the premier has never run over any child, man or woman. That, if any accident of this sort had happened, Senator Mussolini would have done what is the duty of every one—He would have stopped and brought help."

CHARGE DENIED.

The ambassador's statement said: "The Royal Italian Embassy can state categorically that Senator Mussolini has never invited any American to accompany him on any trip around Italy, that the premier has never run over any child, man or woman. That, if any accident of this sort had happened, Senator Mussolini would have done what is the duty of every one—He would have stopped and brought help."

Factory Colors Planned to Make Workers Happier

Cleveland, Jan. 27 (AP).—Color schemes are being worked out by Matthew Luckian, director of lighting research at Pola Park, he believes a majority of the workers are happier, more enthusiastic and consequently more efficient when they work in an environment that has the color appeal.

His plan calls for factory interiors where hard, muscular work is done.

Practical application of these ideas is being made by the Austin Company of Cleveland, engineers constructing the new windowless plant of the Alameda Steel Industries at Pittsburgh, Pa.

The plant, on one floor, will be 360 feet long and 360 feet wide. Initiating the environment of the plant and sky the walls and ceiling of the factory interior will be blue, green and white, and the machines will be colored orange. The orange color will raise the visibility of the machine parts and promote safety.

Machine noise will be to a large degree silenced by sound absorbing material on walls and ceilings. The machines will be laid on heavy felt.

Wilbert J. Austin, president of the constructors, says the plant will in fact be quiet, that the factory office will be in the same room with the machines and machine workers, without a partition between them.

Dr. Watson appeared in favor of his bill to permit the shooting of birds of prey or predatory animals on the Sabbath by the owner or lessee of land on his own property.

Dr. Watson opposed the bill as unnecessary and as a slur on churchgoers. As Dr. Watson and his religious friends and insisted that a man should have the right to shoot a gun when of good nature, but not for the sake of the bird.

Dr. Watson's bill would allow a man to shoot a gun when of good nature, but not for the sake of the bird.

Frocks in Pastel Colors Welcome

By ANN ARDEN

FROCKS ARE turning pale at the thought of spring, but the palest is most becoming. Pastel colors are a welcome relief after the dark and somber hues of the past season. The soft, frothy frocks that adopt these light shades seem to demand the delicacy of color by their graceful lines.

TURQUOISE blue, porcelain blue, bluish pink, bluish gold, coral rose such colors characterize these confections. The styles range from the soft frock of tailored or sportive lines to trailing gowns for the less informal occasions of one's social calendar.

BLACK AND WHITE favorites—the all-white ensemble being especially rare and flattering. Reds have been enjoying popularity, important among which are raspberry red and a softer red with more yellow in it.

WINTER PATTERNS—green, salmon pink, pale but characteristic, and yellow are sufficient.

PRINTS ARE just beginning to reappear, and the large floral motif is outstanding.

THE PRINT gown, pictured is of flat crepe in straight princess line, in corn yellow, with all-white flowers in black. The double strap neckline is low in back with a shallow V in front. The circular ruffle of the skirt is high in back and forms a shallow V in front. The belt emerges from the sides and lies in back. Worth with its ears in earrings in mosaic.

ANOTHER NAME for the lovely golden colors that are predicted for spring wear is "wheat" shades. Almost any tone of yellow seems favored. In blue, another color whose popularity is assured for the coming season, navy and shades just a bit lighter will probably appear for both street and evening wear.

THE FROCK that adopts pastel shades with grace is the one that is at home to tea guests or steps out to do a bit of dining and dancing. This in-between dress, for those occasions that are neither formal nor informal, soft shades in long flaring skirts, flapping caplets, soft bows. In flat crepe or the semi-crease fabric, this type of dress is perfectly adapted to the softness of pastel shades.

HELP NAME NEW BOSTON TUBE

Boston soon will have a traffic tunnel or tube to East Boston—but the tunnel as yet has no name.

SCHALL FIGHTS GUILFIRE DIES MITCHELL ON JUDGESHIP TRUE TO CODE OF GANGLAND

Washington, Jan. 27 (AP)—Attorney Mitchell and Sen. Schall, Republican, Minnesota, engaged today in a controversy over the appointment of a federal judge in the mid-Western state.

The attorney-general issued a statement asserting it should be understood once and for all that he could not recommend to the President Ernest A. Michel, Minnesota lawyer, endorsed by Schall, DEFENDS HIS STAND.

The blind senator immediately replied with a statement indicating he would not withdraw the endorsement and charging Mitchell with "less than good taste" in some of his assertions.

Mitchell, himself a native of Minnesota, said he believed the people of that state did not want "men appointed to play political games." The cabinet officer indicated also that Schall's recommendation of Michel was "unsatisfactory" to President Hoover.

The attorney-general said: "I have been told that I might President Hoover politically in Minnesota if I should recommend this appointment. President Hoover has raised a standard of judicial appointment in which political usefulness does not enter. He has refused repeatedly to be bent by such motives."

CALLS IT 'INSULT'
"Our file of protests against this nomination is more impressive than in any other case before the department for years past," Schall said.

"It is an infernal insult to the people of my state to even intimate that they would consider political expediency rather than sound qualifications and integrity in their choice of a judicial appointee."

Flappers Are Blamed for Unemployment
New York, Jan. 27 (AP)—Flappers, it seems, are responsible for unemployment.

Miss Frances Perkins, state labor commissioner, said at a reception at the home of Mrs. Frank D. Roosevelt that garment workers, instead of catering to youthful demand for the latest modes, should heed the average middle-aged woman, and they have business at a normal pace throughout the year.

Man Held as Slayer Takes His Own Life
Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 27 (AP)—Emmanuel Kell, 35, alleged speaker, painter, shot and killed himself today as he sat between two policemen in the police car that was taking him to headquarters for questioning in connection with the fatal shooting last night of Mrs. Irma V. McDermott, his alleged 25-year-old sweetheart.

$1500 Diamond Found in Mine Tailings
Cherokee, Col., Jan. 27 (AP)—A rough diamond, estimated by others to be worth $1500, was found in the tailings of the old Cherokee hydraulic gold mine here yesterday by a school girl, Vera Jackson.

In the last 50 years 47 diamonds have been picked out of the tailings, but no systematic attempt ever has been made to mine the stones.

Germans Plan Air Service to China
Berlin, Jan. 27 (AP)—Plans issued by the German government to establish a regular flying service from Berlin to Shanghai via Java, the longest air traffic route in the world, are nearing completion. This service, it is claimed, will make it possible to cover the 7000 miles in five or six days.

Memorial Services Held for Pavlova
The Russian, Jan. 27 (AP)—Memorial services were held today for Mme. Anna Pavlova, the Russian ballerina, who died here last week after a short illness with pleurisy. Tonight the body will be sent to London, where it will lie in state before cremation.

Society Presents Latest in Fashions as Opera Stars Score at Premiere

'Lohengrin' Wins Great Applause

Young and Old Flock to Boston Opera House to Hear Wagnerian Classic

A LARGE AND FASHIONABLE audience which filled every seat in the great auditorium at the Boston Opera House last evening, from orchestra to top gallery, gave an enthusiastic welcome to the members of the Chicago Opera Company. "Lohengrin" was the opera chosen for the "first night" and it was apparent that Boston made lovers appreciate this splendid piece. Round after round of applause greeted the visiting songsters after the second act—and many curtain calls were taken.

WITH NO OUTSTANDING singer, the opera as a whole was a picturesque and musical delight and the tuneful score served a smooth and harmonious play. The Redell, who was cast in the role of Elsa, was given an enthusiastic reception of her debut in Boston and Rene Mason was a handsome Lohengrin. The contralto, Miss Olszewska, sang beautifully; her acting was excellent.

THE GREAT THROG OF first-nights were elegantly dressed with sumptuous wraps, glittering gowns, tall coats and high hats. It was a dignified but a heavy crowd who thronged the opera and enjoy the spirit of it all—motors purring, cameras clicking, maidens laughing, friendly greetings. Notable were the snow-haired grande dames in their black velvet gowns and jewels, even a few with diamond tiaras, and it was good to see.

BOSTON'S TRADITIONS and nature are not things of the past and of a very real present. Mothers, fathers, daughters and sons arriving together, the older generation mingling with the younger.

Maria Olszewska Star of Wagner's 'Lohengrin'

By MOSES SMITH

For the fourth time in six years the Chicago Opera Company presented Wagner's "Lohengrin" at the Boston Opera House last night. It was also the second season in three that had been opened by this opera. Thus the waters of musical taste flow on steadily: Wagner is come into his "own," replacing Verdi and Puccini's "own."

About the brilliant, social and sartorial distinction and general temper of the audience the reader may learn from more expert type-writers. Let us proceed to the quality of the performance, which is, after all, the least important thing at the opera house.

In a general way, the performance was undisturbed during the first act; excellent in the second act—superb, indeed, while Miss Olszewska was singing; and very good again in the third act.

This was on-stage; offstage the general level was high, despite the occasional inadequacy of the orchestra. The real state of the performance was the man in the orchestra pit nearest the audience—Eugene Polak.

TWO IMPORTANT DEBUTS Conducting "Lohengrin" in Boston for the first time, he offered renewed evidence of his extreme musical sensibility, his brilliant direction of a mediocre orchestra, and his authoritative as well as inspired interpretations of Wagnerian scores. His choice of tempi was unflinchingly accurate. He met the work with a feeling of having discovered a masterpiece again.

There were two important debuts among the singers. Emma Redell sang the luscious music of Elsa and Rudolf Bockelman was the villain, Friedrich von Truhsez.

Both had been preceded by favorable notices from competent authorities, based on their performances in Chicago, and we found both, in a measure, disappointing. Miss Redell has a good but not a great soprano voice, (we may judge from a single hearing, "body" and the desirable quality for the role—and thus two facts were cause for gratification. But often the quality collapsed, and the voice became breathy. Of her musical comprehension we were not sure with the same tempered praise they were good in kind, but not exceptional.

MARIA OLSZEWSKA STARS Substituting the suitable adjectives for the baritone voice and part of Mr. Bockelman. Perhaps his star and Miss Redell's will shine brighter when the nervousness connected with the first performance of the occasion is not present. At this point, however, we can say that both were good.

RENE MASON SURPRISES Rene Mason, the one important member of the cast not associated by tradition and training with the German school of opera, surprised by the vigor and authority of his singing in the title role. One could not say so glibly, as two years ago, he was miscast in German opera.

With such a company of German singers and such musical and stage direction as were present in last night's "Lohengrin," the Chicago Company is equipped to present German opera as well as any group in America (meaning the Metropolitan) or, perhaps, in Europe, outside of the Bayreuthian chapel. One thing needed badly is, of course, a larger orchestra. Another, for example, is a fresh lot of sets for "Lohengrin." But there we are complaining again, when we had intended to praise.

M'FADDEN HINTS PLOT IN FIGHT ON MEYER

Washington, Jan. 27 (AP)—Chairman McFadden of the House banking committee complained before the Senate banking committee today at hearings on the nomination of Eugene Meyer, Jr., New York, as governor of the Federal Reserve Board, that the nominee had been "a seer after public office."

McFadden was the first witness. Mr. Meyer sat next to him at the committee table. The House member said Meyer, after service on the War Finance Corporation, went to the Federal Farm Loan Board.

WANTS SHIT FROED.
McFadden said it was "a well known fact in Federal Reserve Board circles that Mr. Meyer was after a job on the board."

He emphasized that Edmund Platt, vice-governor, resigned to make way for Meyer. Although Roy Young resigned as governor last summer, Mr. McFadden said Meyer could not be appointed because he and Platt were both from the New York district.

"I don't believe Mr. Platt deliberately resigned from the Federal Reserve Board," said McFadden. "I ask the committee to inquire into that."

YOUNG NOT "SHIBBID."
Roy Young, who resigned from the Federal Reserve Board governorship last August to become governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, testified he never discussed his resignation with Meyer.

"I say to Mr. McFadden that I received no bribe when I took office," said Young, "and I received no bribe when I left it." Young said he had to leave the Federal Reserve Board to help his own finances.

"No effort was made to get you out to make way for Mr. Meyer?" asked Senator Carey, Republican, Wyoming, chairman. "Certainly not," replied Young. He said he did not know "of a better man in America" than Meyer for governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Kaiser at 72 Hits Back at War Critic

Berlin, Jan. 27 (INB)—His 72nd birthday anniversary today found the former Kaiser Wilhelm staunchly defending his imperial status against scathing criticisms contained in the recently published memoirs of the late Chancellor Prince von Bismarck.

von Bismarck accused the ex-Kaiser of "three sins"—the famous Daily Telegraph interview, the Kruger telegram and the Kaiser's visit to Tanager. Wilhelm entered a protest against von Bismarck's observations.

The telegram sent by the Kaiser to President Paul Kruger of Transvaal congratulating him on his defeat of a revolutionary movement headed by Dr. Jameson, was dispatched "only under urgent pressure from the foreign office," Herr Trefz, Wilhelm's intimate, declared the Kaiser personally doubting the wisdom of the message. Von Bismarck and others have maintained the emperor arbitrarily sent the telegram against their advice.

Burnett Approved for Revenue Post

Washington, Jan. 27 (INB)—The Senate finance committee today ordered a favorable report to the Senate on the nomination of David Burnett of Ohio to be commissioner of internal revenue. He is now serving under a recess appointment as successor to Robert H. La Follette, executive director of the Republican national committee.

'PHANTOM RUM SHIP' CAPTURED

Newport, R. I., Jan. 27.—Trapped in Sacoconnet Point harbor, the speedboat Overland, with 500 cases of liquor aboard, was captured today by the coast guard.

George Horemann, described by the coast guard as her skipper, was placed under arrest. Other members of her crew escaped when a patrol boat from Brenton Point came running up along side in the morning darkness.

The Overland, because of her speed, has long been under suspicion and has been referred to by the coast guard as a phantom ship. She recently outdistanced government boats in a chase from Newport harbor the coast guard reported.

Capt. Ellsworth Latham was in command of the patrol boat that captured her. She will be towed to Providence, where Horemann will be released.

The Overland is powered with three motors and is registered to Will of Carver, of Worcester.

Jobs for 45,000

by First of March

Washington, Jan. 27.—Senator Black, Democrat, Alabama, today charged "deliberate" delay was being practiced in the $25,000,000 appropriation for Red Cross drought relief.

Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, testified before the House appropriations committee that nearly all of the $22,500,000 appropriated last December under the unemployment emergency fund had been allotted.

About 45,000 men, he said, would be employed on the emergency work by March 1.

Meanwhile the Red Cross announced $13,313,348 had been received in its $10,000,000 drought relief campaign.

Shown in this picture is one of the coats, the same in 1866, when this story was made, as it was in 1775, when the Boston boys took their protest to Gen. Gage, in command of the British troops.

EMBASSY RUM SEARCH URGED

Washington, Jan. 27 (AP).—An amendment to the House prohibition bill for the District of Columbia was proposed today by Senator Thomas, Democrat, South Carolina, which would include all embassies and their personnel under its stringent search and seizure provisions.

The amendment provides that this act shall apply to all persons and all buildings alike without exception.

"The amendment would include all buildings and all persons in the city of Washington, from the highest official and the richest man to the most humble," said Thomas. "That's the idea of it and I want to see if the Senate has the nerve to pass it."

Haugen Hits Wheat Relief Bill as Farm Price Peril

Washington, Jan. 27 (AP).—The House agriculture committee tomorrow will take up the Senate bill to make 20,000,000 bushels of the Farm Board's wheat available for relief purposes.

Announcing the decision, Chairman Haugen today registered opposition to any bill for relief "at the expense of the farmers."

"That bill defeats the purpose of the Farm Board because by turning this wheat loose it breaks the price which the board has been trying to stabilize," he said.

TWO kinds of LOVE

The story of a man who was pledged to one woman and maddened by another sweet gray eyes and her steadfast heart?

A fool, they say, is always short in his reckoning. And I was a fool. For the reckoning came . . . swift, terrible . . . but revealing.

Let no one say that a man cannot love as madly, as completely, as a woman. This amazing story, "Their Secret Passion," disproves it.

It is a man's story, but it is written for women. It lays bare a man's very soul for women to see—and understand.

Frankly it is one of the most moving, gripping, true romances we have ever printed—a merciless picture of a young man's struggle to be true to his own self, against the lure of two women. A story of how happiness and beauty came after years of regrets, abasement and sorrow? Don't miss "Their Secret Passion."

HEARING MEASURE TOMORROW

Fin. Com. Head Declares That the Act Has Helped Curb Accidents in State

"One of the most important bills before the Legislature, affecting everybody in the State, is to be heard tomorrow without any beating of drums if the insurance people have their way."

This was the statement today of Frank A. Goodwin, chairman of the finance committee, regarding the petition for repeal of the compulsory automobile insurance law, which will be heard in Room 364 of the State House at 10 A. M.

He charged that, although the Massachusetts Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the bill, it is really that of the insurance interests.

Goodwin declared that if the law is repealed in Massachusetts, insurance companies would be permitted to charge whatever rates they see fit. He cited examples of comparative rates in this state and Connecticut.

He estimated that in Massachusetts for 1929 there were 1250 cars for every 1000 people, while in Connecticut one person was killed for every 400 cars. He added:

"All this talk of insurance companies about compulsory insurance causing accidents is pure bunk, and I am certain in my own mind that it has been a great deterrent to accidents."

Even the survey committee that spent all the summer of 1929 investigating this same subject and which was influenced by insurance interests, did not dare to recommend the repeal of this law, but said that we should attempt to amend it rather than take a step backward.

Commissioner Goodwin explains that if the new law was passed a "rating" committee would be appointed to determine the status of automobile drivers as insurance risks.

After the first accident of any kind a driver would be rated in Class A and rates would be raised 10 per cent.

After the second accident he would be in Class B and rates would be raised 25 per cent. After a third accident, he would be in "C" with rates boosted 50 per cent above the original price.

Mayor's Bill Loses on First Rollcall

The first rollcall in the House this year defeated one of Mayor Curley's bills providing for an increase in the amount paid by the state to communities for the population of water.

Under the present law the state contributes $10.00 of the cost of caring for strangers who come stricken with illness. Mayor Curley's bill would have provided for the payment of $25 by the state. The legislative committee on public welfare reported adversely and the rollcall accepted the report by 124 to 81.

Train Wreck Tip Won $15 for Readville Girl

When two New Haven trains crashed at Readville last Monday in the snowstorm, tips began to bombard the New Tip editor. There were many of them.

There were many of them. Competition was keen, but the first call was from Catherine Noonan, 16 of Chesterfield st., Readville. It was her tip that put reporters and rewrite men on the job and started the presses roaring a few minutes later with first news of the wreck with which the Boston American scooped the city by one hour and five minutes.

Accordingly, although the New Tip editor would like to award first prize to all those who rushed to telephone the big news, the $15 must go to Miss Noonan under the rules of the competition.

Similarly, on the accident at Huntington ave. and Riverside, Jamaica Plain where Miss Gloria Wilson was killed by a light pole, which a truck had stopped off there were numerous tips. The first, however, was from Frank A. Brothers of 881 Huntington ave. who therefore is awarded second prize, $10.

Third prize of $5 goes to a man who gave the first tip on the capture of three youths charged with robbery in the Black Bay. He asked that his name be withheld.

Winners of the ten $2 prizes are as follows:

Mrs. Viola Pinkham, 11 Stanton st., Hyde Park. Assistance on Readville wreck story.

Neil Cannon, 2 Montague rd., Dedham. Ambulance and street car in crash.

James Connors, 65 Oakwood st., Brighton. Assistance on Jamaica Plain fatal accident.

W. J. Somers, 646 Huntington. Assistance on same.

WOMEN BEATEN ON NAME BILL

United front by the three women members of the House, Representatives Marion C. Burrows of Lynn, Emma E. Brigham of Springfield and Mary L. Barrows of Melrose, failed today to block enactment of a bill compelling women holding State office to record any change in their names.

The bill passed the reading by a rising vote, 111 for and 10 against. Speaking for her women colleagues against the bill, which was introduced by Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook, Representative Burrows declared that the bill was discriminatory.

"It looks like a plant on the part of the men to ride women out of public office," she asserted. She declared that the bill invaded "the right of women to use their own names," and pointed out that the measure did not include actresses or professional women.

Representative Paul A. Dever of Cambridge asserted that women today either have or take more "rights" than men, especially when women go into department stores, run up big bills and then sit back calmly and let their husbands pay the bill.

"We are in the real estate column of the financial ads, and we are not secure of our positions for profitable investment."

LABOR CHARGES PHONE COMPANY IS ILLEGAL

New England and American Companies Branded "Monopoly" at State Hearing

In an attack on the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., and its parent body the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the Boston Central Labor Union today characterized them as corporations doing business in Massachusetts illegally.

Through Atty. V. V. McCall, the labor organization demanded that the rates of the two companies be declared null and void and that subsidiary Massachusetts companies be required to pay forthwith new rates and charges.

Speaking at the opening of the rate reduction hearing before the Public Utilities Commission at the State House, Atty. Marshall charged that the two telephone companies are conducting a monopoly in this state in defiance of the law.

He declared they were organized in New York as telephone companies and had no right to operate in Massachusetts as telephone companies without the consent of the general court.

DEPUTY TO STATE

He said the American Tel. & Tel. Co. owns $38,000,000 worth of property in Massachusetts, yet makes no report.

"I have the right to remark," he said, "that the company is in-sincere in its attitude toward the Commonwealth. The company cannot maintain any position of injured innocence. The Rhode Island legislature authorized it to acquire property in that state providing it keep the assets separated so the regulating body of that state could have a check on its rates."

"The creation of the Massachusetts telephone monopoly is by actual admission of the respondents, not predicated upon any specific Massachusetts law."

"Despite the law the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. has absorbed smaller corporations and thus has destroyed them."

"The telephone monopoly is a cruel, unfair and unenforceable because their claims are based on void contracts."

"I now move that this department declare null and void all rates and charges now on file covering the service of the New England Tel. & Tel. Co. and the American Tel. & Tel. Co. and I further move that this department order the various subsidiary Massachusetts companies to forthwith file rates and charges with this department covering sales and services in Massachusetts."

ALL BUNK, SAYS PIERCE

Chas. S. Pierce, counsel for the telephone company, in reply, declared everything Marshall said about the company is a matter of official record.

"The company," said Atty. Pierce, "is concealing nothing. The New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. has grown from a $100,000 concern to a $38,000,000 concern, 75 per cent of which is in Massachusetts."

"It has been investigated at least twice by the Public Utilities Commission, and there is no answer to every allegation made by Mr. Marshall. In my opinion they are just bunk."

Knighted

JOSEPH H. O'NEIL, former congressman and chairman of the board of the Federal National Bank, has been created a Knight of Malta. Other New England men were also knighted.

At a ceremony at the State House, Atty. Marshall declared that the two telephone companies are conducting a monopoly in this state in defiance of the law.

He declared they were organized in New York as telephone companies and had no right to operate in Massachusetts as telephone companies without the consent of the general court.

West Point Charged With Trying to Recruit Goff

PROSECUTION PAPER MAKES ALLEGATIONS

Providence, R. I., Jan. 27 (AP)—The Evening Bulletin in a copyrighted story today will say that it is in possession of correspondence tending to show an attempt to recruit for the West Point football team Kenneth Goff, Rhode Island State star who in the past season was second highest scorer in the east.

The newspaper prints copies of letters to Goff from W. W. Wrightson of New York, a member of the Army Athletic Association, advising Goff, a Brookline, Mass., man, to tell Congressman George R. Stubbins of the Worcester Mass. district that he had lived in Worcester for the past year with Capt. John M. McLean, Holy Cross coach and former West Point grid star and coach.

McLean denies having known Goff in the past, but did give him an interview last Saturday in Worcester. Congressman Stubbins talked with Goff, but when the latter frankly admitted that he was not a Worcester man, told him he could not be considered for appointment to the academy from that district.

Wrightson, who wrote to Congressman Stubbins of Goff's interests, and he acted as the lieutenant of Paul Carroll, manager of the Army football team for 1930.

Coach Frank Keane of Rhode Island State declares in an evening Bulletin article, that the attempt to get Goff into West Point "positive proof that the big colleges are preying upon small institutions. The entire thing is a nasty mess."

Wrightson declared that he was not solely interested in Goff's athletic ability, but was trying to help the youth.

Fleming Denies All Charges

West Point, N. Y., Jan. 27 (AP)—Mr. Philip B. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at the Military Academy, made it clear today that West Point had not lifted a finger, officially or unofficially, to secure the enrollment of Kenneth Goff, backfield star of Rhode Island State's football team.

"My first knowledge of the story was the record of a telephone call from a Providence newspaperman," said Mr. Fleming. "He asked me about Mr. W. C. Wrightson, who is a member of the Army Athletic Association, a very enthusiastic supporter but having no official connection with our organization here. Members of the Army A. A. number thousands, and are scattered all over the world."

"I do not know what Mr. Wrightson may have done or suggested, but I do know that we have no part in it. We do not know that any one at West Point has lifted a finger to recruit Goff or any other prospective athlete star. It would be irresponsible on the face of it for anyone in an official capacity even to attempt it."

"So far as I know, the first inquiry concerning Goff came from the boy himself and was directed to a close friend here. The inquiry, in turn, passed on to Mr. Stubbins, the football coach, and was told that nothing could be done for Goff or anyone else."

"The facts are that the athletic office no longer even receives inquiries from boys seeking admission here. Those who are ambitious to enter West Point. All such correspondence is handled through the adjutant's office."

Passing the Puck

Frank Synnott dislikes the statements made by Yip Foster and Bob Taylor of the Tigers that he said that the much disputed Indian goal in Springfield was not in the net.

He declares that he did not put down comment on the goal but emphatically states that he saw the puck in the net. Moreover, he says he did not say any thing to Ernie Davis, the other official.

During the World War Cooper Stinson, manager of the Philadelphia Quakers, received many propositions for bravery. Now, he is deservingly more highly honored for the fact that his club has dropped 26 games this season. "Cooper" still carrying on as if by superhuman effort has managed to win all sorts of light into the Quakers.

Any suspicion that there will be a repetition of the Christmas fiasco is groundless, for the incident has long since been forgotten by the players.

Norman Small, who guarded goals for practically every amateur team in these parts, is in the nets for the Greeney A. C. of Brockton. Another old time local favorite, Buzz

Fame and Gold Have Failed to Hold Big League Stars

By JOE CASEMAN

Should Eddie Morgan, brilliant first sacker of the Cleveland Indians, keep his promise to quit baseball, it wouldn't be the first instance of a player deserting the pastime at the height of his career.

Contrary to popular belief that the big league players have never given up, the fact is that they have. The names of several stars who voluntarily retired when greatly in demand.

Most fans know that Bill Langer, who turned in a batting average of .312 at Chicago from 1914 to 1919, wouldn't sign up at any price in 1920 and never played thereafter, since his case was the first of its kind.

Many, no doubt, also remember or are aware that, just before the war, the stars had a great time, turned up the big league season and then quit for good because of the feminine factor.

Few, however, recall any other players who quit in their prime, yet more than enough have done it to prove that baseball retirement is a permanent thing, always the "done" thing.

Four Boston Stars Quit in Last 15 Years

No less than four Boston heroes abandoned the game much against the wishes of their owners in the last 15 years.

The first was Charlie "Rutch" Schmidt, star first sacker of the Red Sox, who quit in 1916 to join the military world's champion Braves of '14.

He came up from Boston and materially aided the Braves in scoring the most surprising of all baseball triumphs by his hitting and fielding, returned home, entered the butcher business and turned his back on baseball forever.

The next was Vincent Campbell, under-sacker, but truly great offensive player who came to the Tribe from Pittsburg in 1918 or '19, and after one season here and while he was playing in the Federal League for a spell, he could never be induced to return to the majors.

His reason, in his own words: "They all go crazy if they stay in the hot sun long enough and I want to remain sane."

The Red Sox shocked the entire baseball world by retiring to the States.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"What about those stories about the effect Jack Dempsey is going to stage a comeback?" Freddy Lane asked Mr. Boston.

"Purely press agent yarns," answered the veteran, "Dempsey is out of the active end of the boxing game for good."

"The former champion doesn't know he would be in danger of receiving serious physical damage if he were to knock out any of the outstanding fighters?"

IN WALL ST.

New York, Jan. 27.—Leading issues backed an filled in today's Wall Street trading.

The bears showed light aggression after announcement of the Studebaker dividend reduction, but withdrew in the final few minutes and several recessions of a point or so in leading shares were reduced.

CLOSE BARELY STEADY
The list closed barely steady, with narrow and largely unimportant net changes. The utilities were conspicuously heavy, however.

The impending publication of the quarterly U. S. Steel statements after the close made traders cautious, since year-end adjustments made forecasting of final quarter earnings difficult. The bond market was also sluggish, in response to new offerings of more than $900-
